

Happy 60th Birthday Judy xxx November 5

When I think of Judy xxxxx
We're at the Seder table
With aromas
from the kitchen
Almost like a
Jewish fable

She fell in love with brilliant Eric,
The man that she would marry
And said "I do"
just one month
After I said
"yes" to Larry

As a child, her family lived
With her mom's parents in Dorchester
In that 3-decker house is where we played
'Til they moved up to Manchester

We still managed to attend
Each others' wedding and reception
They first left for St. Louis
Then the Albany direction

Inside of Grandma's kitchen,
We watched her cook the tasty dishes
I loved her apple turnovers
Made from scratch, and so delicious

She got a job in publishing
While raising a family
Now blessed with grandson Benji
She's a grandma, just like me

Even though of all the grandkids
Grandma's favorite was "king" Jeff
She & I complained, but then we laughed
More like sisters and best friends

Sixty is a milestone
Judy, you just breezed right through
Eric and Larry made it,
And soon I'll be there too!

After high school she returned to Boston
And studied hard at Simmons
From time to time she'd come & share
Some brisket, wine and tzimmis

Happy Birthday Judy xxxx
Your next chapter is now open
Good health, long life, and lots more fun

With joy, from your loving cousin
